

From Left to Right: Trying out some public exercise equipment at the Temple of Heaven's Park; Hand-painted ornate walkway in the Temple of Heaven; the imposing Ming dynasty architecture of Tiananmen square and the Forbidden City Palace complex; Green guardian lion; the public communal sociability of the elderly; Architecture at the Summer Palace; the Temple of Heaven; Angles and corners at the Summer Palace; Green guardian human at Tiananmen square; Me with blossoms at the Summer Palace; The highs and lows of the Great Wall; Kristen in the world's loneliest library in Beidaihe, a resort district in Qinhuangdao, Hebei province; At the other end of the beach presumably the loneliest church in the world, straight out of a Lemony Snicket novel.

From left to right: Pandas at the Chengdu Research Base of Giant Panda Breeding; candles at a Chengdu temple; the view of JinJiang overlooking the Taikoo Li shopping complex stroke Daci Buddhist temple; Me with Panda food; more candles; a Kodak moment; Renting bikes to get around; Chinese script; Man with fan; Koi in one of the many ponds at the People's Park; a Record store; bonsai tree at the Wuhou Memorial Temple; Walkways in the Jinsha museum gardens; Barclay and artist Xie Fan in his studio; Hanging out at one of the 4,200 coffee shops with academic translator He Yujia and her husband.