About the College

Founded in 1249, University College (Univ) is one of the oldest of the thirty-nine colleges of Oxford University. The College functions as an independent institution and as a social and residential centre for its members. It has approximately 430 undergraduate and 300 graduate students studying most of the core subjects on offer at Oxford.

It offers a rigorous and nuanced education designed to inspire its students to be intellectually bold, to welcome challenge and be open to new ideas and ways of thinking. Alongside the academic underpinning there is a wide range of social and sporting activities on offer, together with strong wellbeing support.

The College is an independent, self-governing institution headed by the Master and led by the Governing Body, which has overall responsibility for all aspects of the running of the College. The Governing body is underpinned by a structure of committees, including the Development and Communications Committee concerned with Old Members, Fundraising and events.

The College has a widely supported regular giving programme and its alumni have facilitated transformational change through their support. There is also a collaborative and constructive working relationship between the College and the central University's Development team.

The Development, Alumni Relations and Communications Team

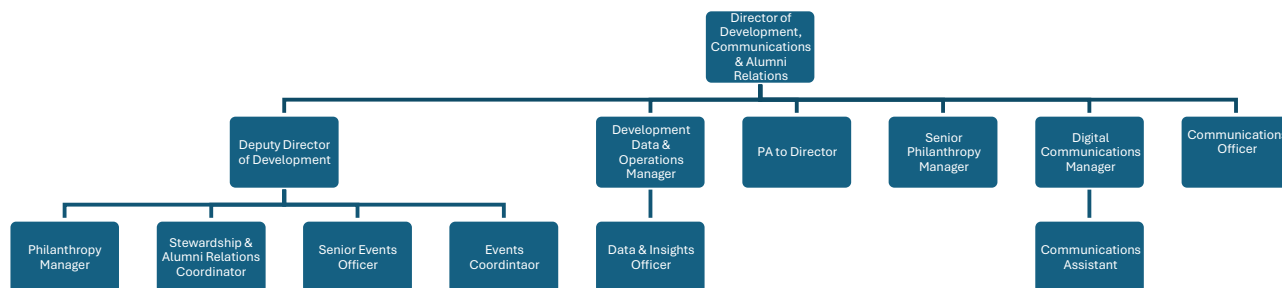

Univ established a full-time Development Office in 1997. The College now has one of the longest-established and best-performing Development Offices in Oxford.

The Development, Communications and Alumni Relations team is responsible for an extensive programme of alumni outreach, fundraising events and campaigns designed to foster and maintain relationships between the College and its global alumni body. The Communications sub-team supports the College's overall digital and wider communications strategy through engagement with all stakeholders including staff, students and alumni. They support the College's website development as well as internal and external communication through publications and newsletters.

The Team comprises 13 members of staff: The Director of Development, Alumni Relations and Communications; Deputy Director of Development; Senior Philanthropy Manager; Philanthropy Manager; Development Data and Operations Manager; Data and Insights Officer; Stewardship and Alumni Relations Coordinator; Senior Events Officer; Events Coordinator;

Development Administrator and PA to Director; Digital Communications Manager; Communications Officer and Communications Assistant. It is a friendly “all hands on” office where considerable teamwork is welcomed and expected. Further information can be found at About Development - University College Oxford \(Univ\) \(Univ\)
